Final OKay On Foreign Aid Expected Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was expected to give final congressional approval to the $3 billion foreign aid bill by nightfall today.

The House, which approved the compromise proposal last week, was standing by to join the Senate in adjourning the long congressional session once the foreign aid bill was passed.

Congress is due to reconvene Saturday.

Democratic and Republican Senate leaderships indicated they expected the necessary quorum of 51 members to be on hand for today's session.

Senate approval of the hotly fought aid bill seemed certain, giving President Johnson at least a partial victory in his first joust with Congress since becoming chief executive.

One of the program's most outspoken opponents — Oregon's Democratic Sen. Wayne Morse — conceded passage was likely by late afternoon.

$1.5 Billion Slash

The $3 billion final total for aid represented a $1.5 billion slash from the $4.5 billion originally asked last spring by the late President John F. Kennedy to cover aid spending for the year which started July 1.

The total was also well below the $3.6 billion level that Johnson said two weeks ago would reflect "a dangerous reduction in our security."

But Johnson could claim one major plus — elimination of a House-originated ban on extending credit to Communist nations for grain purchases or other trade.

By a 189-158 vote in an unprecedented daybreak session Tuesday, the House finally agreed to accept the bill without the ban it had twice written into the aid measure.

But its price was reduction of aid funds to $3 billion. At one point, House conferees refused to accept even $3.1 billion after both Johnson and Senate conferees tried to gain agreement on that figure.

As the bill now stands, Johnson would be free to offer credit to Communist nations if he felt it was in the national interest and notified Congress within 30 days.

Johnson had claimed that a ban on extending credit to Russia would intrude on his right to conduct foreign affairs, while supporters of the ban claimed that if Russia were allowed to buy on credit it would have just that much more available to spend on countries such as Cuba.

Morse said he planned to open today's session with a quorum call. He said he would speak for a couple of hours, but conceded passage was likely by late afternoon.

"I don't think there's any chance at all of defeating the bill," he said. "But the vote won't end this fight. It's just one battle in the war."

Congress Isn't Friendly About Income Reports

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility that Congress might vote itself a pay raise next year seems to be growing weaker.

The chance that Congress will require its members to disclose all their financial sources looks even slimmer — slim to point of no chance in sight.

There has been considerable agitation for a pay raise, from $22,500 a year to $32,500. But congressmen are notoriously nervous about raising their pay during an election year, and that's what 1964 is. Also, Congress' job performance this year has been widely criticized.

Already there has been a revival, on a small scale, of the "Bundles for Congress" campaign that infuriated and alarmed a good many of the senators and representatives in the 1940s.

In that satirical campaign, taxpayers sent packages of second-hand clothes to members of Congress who were complaining about how hard up they were and how much they needed a raise.

Last month a bundle of old clothes from the "Senior Citizens of Tioga County, Sabinsville, Pa.," arrived at the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, which had approved the pay raise bill.

The donors said they hoped the gift "will help tide you over."

A comparative handful of Congress members have voluntarily made statements of their income in addition to salary.

The idea of requiring disclosure of income sources is to discourage conflicts of interest, to guard against official actions for private gain. If a senator was known to hold stock in a certain company, for example, he might hesitate to vote for legislation that would help that company.

But most members aren't eager to bare all. They take the stand that, unless the personal income affairs of every citizen are a matter of public record, there is no sound reason Congress members should be singled out.

Burned Liner Sinks At Sea

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The burned-out shell of the Greek cruise liner Lakonia sank in 13,200 feet of Atlantic water Sunday as she was being towed toward Gibraltar.

Capt. Trygve Gaasoe of the Norwegian tug Herkules, who was directing the attempt to salvage the hulk, said the ship's starboard list increased Saturday night.

Six men from one of the two Portuguese tugs with the Herkules were put aboard the wreck Sunday morning to close all starboard portholes. The growing list forced them off after four hours.

"Suddenly at 2 p.m. the wreck heeled over to starboard until the decks on that side were awash," Gaasoe reported by ship-to-shore telephone.

"Just as she went down, she rolled back completely so that her decks were pointing straight toward us on her port side," he said.

Gaasoe said the Lakonia sank about 260 miles southwest of Gibraltar.

"It was simply too burnt out to stay afloat," he said. "The charred metal was cooling down after the fire, and this set up a lot of irregular stresses, and the weakened structure probably simply broke up."

Fire broke out on the Lakonia on the night of Dec. 22 as she was sailing from Britain to the Madeira and Canary islands. Of the 1,041 persons aboard, 91 are known dead and 64 are missing.

Brendan Behan Is Found In Street

DUBLIN (AP) — Playwright Brendan Behan was found lying in a Dublin street today, unconscious with head injuries.

He underwent an emergency operation at Meath Hospital, where he was reported in fair condition.

Police were uncertain whether Behan, 40, was the victim of a hit-and-run driver or suffered a fall. He was found in the area where his parents live.

Behan was released from a hospital only Sunday after five days of treatment for diabetes.

Johnson And Erhard Agree In First Meeting

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson's first venture into the deep water of personal diplomacy was a success, according to German and American informants who had a part in his two-day meeting with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

If nothing else, the two new leaders in the West's struggle with the East got to know each other and reached "full agreement and understanding."

The phrase is a stock one in the copy book of diplomats. But this time, said Erhard, "it is not a diplomatic statement. It is just the truth."

A communique issued Sunday after their meetings declared that Johnson and Erhard were agreed "that it is highly important to continue to explore all opportunities for the improvement of East-West relations, the easing of tensions, and the enlargement of the prospects of a peace that can be stable because it is just."

This was qualified, though, with a declaration that there "should be no arrangement" that would perpetuate a divided Germany.

Ties With Russia

Erhard, holding a news conference at Austin's Bergstrom Air Force Base just before his jet transport left for Bonn, emphasized a willingness to explore "new allies" that might lead to agreements with the Soviet Union.

The rotund chancellor described his meeting-of-minds with Johnson on this subject as "a step forward in view of the readiness to take new initiatives and to open discussions on possibilities that might exist."

Some question about Erhard's enthusiasm toward East-West talks was raised Saturday night after his press secretary, Karl-Gunther von Hase, said the German leader found Soviet responses to conciliatory Western moves "not very encouraging."

It was said later, however, that Erhard had the Berlin and German problems uppermost in his mind in making the assessment.

The central issues at the conference were trade and related economic questions, rather than East-West problems, informants said.

DeGaulle Displeased

German observers noted that Erhard was aware that French President Charles de Gaulle will not likely be too pleased with the communique's urging greater economic integration of Europe and approving the U.S. position that both agricultural and industrial products must be included in forthcoming tariff cutting negotiations.

The trade talks are scheduled for next spring between the United States and the European Common Market in which France and Germany are powers.

Other major points in the communique: —Sargent Shriver, U.S. Peace Corps director, is going to Bonn to help Germany set up its own Peace Corps.

—The United States will "maintain the present six-division level of combat forces in Germany, as long as they are needed."

Stetsons For 50

During their final day together, Johnson and Erhard worshipped at a Lutheran church in nearby Fredericksburg, a city of 5,000 founded 117 years ago by German immigrants. Part of the service was in German.

After another formal meeting, the President and the chancellor drove to the Stonewall High School gymnasium, near the ranch, for a Texas-style barbecue. Country music and the classical artistry of pianist Van Cliburn were mingled on the entertainment program.

Johnson then provided his own entertainment as he handed out at least 50 Texas Stetson hats — the first of which he clapped over Erhard's brow.

By the time the chancellor left for home, however, the Texas headgear had been replaced by a black homburg.

Swainson And Williams Give Staebler Go Sign

By The Associated Press

If Rep. Neil Staebler announces this week—as expected—that he will run for Michigan governor in 1964, he won't have to worry about competition from any former governors for the Democratic nomination.

Soon after former Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson announced Saturday that he would not run next year, his Democratic predecessor — G. Mennen Williams — also announced he would not be a candidate for his old job.

Swainson said his decision was based on doctors' advice that he might not be able to stand a vigorous election campaign because of a piece of shrapnel found unexpectedly in his right leg.

Williams said his present job as assistant secretary of state for African affairs is "at a critical phase" and that he feels a responsibility to stay on because of the government's "investment in me over the last three years."

That left the field for the Democratic nomination for governor to these potential candidates: Staebler, Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit and State Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency.

Staebler, now Michigan's congressman-at-large, currently is considered No. 1 among these. Until Swainson's withdrawal from the race, some observers had predicted a primary battle between Swainson and Staebler for the nomination.

In announcing his decision not to run, Swainson said Staebler would "make a very, very fine governor."

Lesinski said Saturday, "I am still considering running. I am still very serious about it and I have no other plans at the moment."

"But I am going to play it by ear for a while yet to see exactly what the situation is," he added. "I would presume that sometime in January I will decide."

Swainson, who lost his legs in a land mine explosion in World War II, walks on artificial legs. He said the health of his wife, Alice, also figured in his decision not to run.

Staebler said he will announce his decision at a news conference in Detroit Saturday.

Greece Orders 1964 Election

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—King Paul today ordered election of a new parliament on Feb. 16 in an effort to solve the political crisis plaguing Greece at the same time it faces trouble on Cyprus.

The king decided to dissolve the Parliament elected Nov. 3 after leaders of the nation's two major political parties couldn't form a government and refused to work together in a coalition.

The palace announced the king had asked Ioannis Paraskevopoulos, 63-year-old deputy governor of the Bank of Greece, to head a caretaker cabinet and hold the elections.

ways is a microcosm of the segmented Christian Church that he hopes one day to unite and in a larger sense, he will find that Nazareth reflects the many ways in which many peoples have sought God.

Nazareth, situated in the heart of the State of Israel, has an overwhelmingly Arab population. Christians of one persuasion or another—most of whose ancestors were converted hundreds of years ago in the days of the Crusades — comprise about half the city's 28,000 population.

The largest group of Nazarene Christians is the Greek Orthodox, followed by the Greek Catholics, who have ties to the Vatican, but pray in Arabic instead of Latin. There are about 3,000 Roman Catholics in the city. The remaining Christians belong to one of several Protestant denominations.

Pope Paul VI will spend 75 minutes in Nazareth—the longest stop on his 11-hour itinerary in Israel. He will say Mass at the Grotto of the Annunciation where Christians believe the archangel Gabriel told Mary of the coming birth. The Grotto Church is being rebuilt over the remains of three earlier ones.

Nazareth has almost 30 churches, their grounds cover more than a third of the city's area.

Although most Nazarenes are not Roman Catholics, all seem enthusiastic about the Pope's visit.

Said a Moslem friend of the shopkeeper: "The Pope is a good man and he seeks to bring all men together in peace. May his blessings rain upon us all."

Pope To Find Nazareth Symbol Of Riven Church

NAZARETH, Israel (AP) — The community in the hills of Galilee where Jesus grew up and worked as a carpenter is busily preparing for the arrival of the man Roman Catholics regard as the vicar of Christ.

According to Christian tradition, it was in Nazareth that the Virgin Mary learned she was to give birth to the Messiah; it was here that Jesus spent a great part of His life before embarking on the road that led to Calvary. It was from here that He descended to the Sea of Galilee and met Simon the Fisherman, whom He named Peter.

Roman Catholics consider Peter their first Pope.

Next Sunday, Pope Paul VI will become the first head of the Roman Catholic Church since Peter to set foot on this soil. He will find a city in many

Two Lose Lives In U.S. 41 Crash; Delta Total 18

Delta County's traffic fatality rate for 1963 rose to an alarming 18 Saturday when two persons died of injuries suffered in a head-on crash on U. S. 2-41, three miles west of the 23rd St. and Ludington intersection in Escanaba at 3:27 p. m.

The number of fatalities on Delta County roadways is the highest since 1954 when 20 persons lost their lives in auto accidents in the area.

Killed in Saturday's accident were Mrs. Leonard (Meryl) Berg, 58, of Wauwatosa, Wis., who was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Francis Hospital, and Mrs. Arthur (Anna) Peterson, 68, of Marquette, who died a short time after her admittance.

Both women were passengers in cars driven by their husbands.

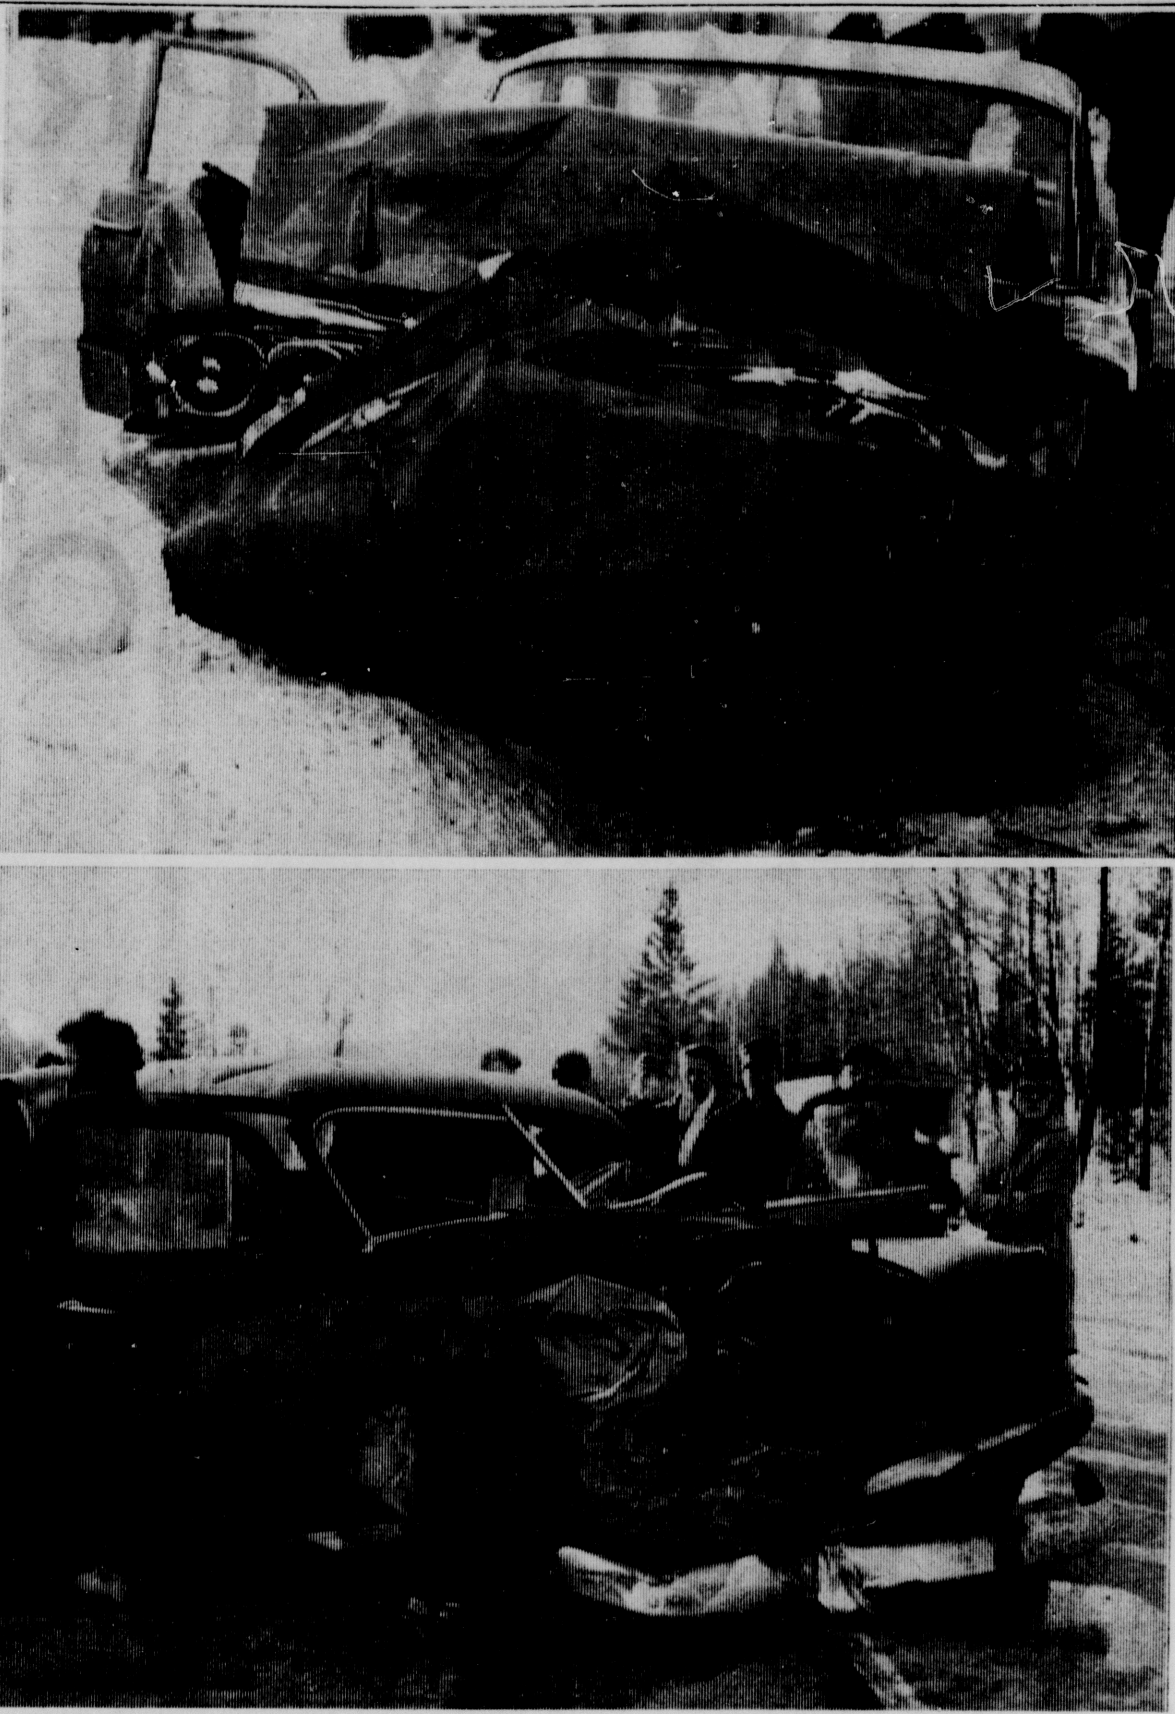

According to State Police of the Gladstone Post, the Peterson car was traveling west on U. S. 2-41 when it suddenly made a left-hand turn in front of the car driven by Berg, who was going east, and the two vehicles struck head-on.

Mr. Peterson and Mr. Berg were also taken to St. Francis Hospital with injuries. They were reported in "fair" condition today.

Mrs. Berg was the former Meryl Moore and was born Nov. 15, 1905 in Gladstone. Her marriage to L. Edward Berg took place March 28, 1926 in Flint. She came to Spalding in 1933 with her husband and operated a store in Spalding and Hermansville. She moved to Wauwatosa in 1955 and had lived there since. She was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Milwaukee. She formerly worked for the Escanaba Daily Press at its Gladstone office.

Besides her husband she is survived by two sons, Robert E., Livonia, Mich., and William A. of Milwaukee; three grandchildren; her father, William J. Moore of Gladstone, three sisters, Mrs. John Gregory, Portland, Ore., Mrs. Merle Wyatt, Wayland, Mich., and Mrs. Elmer Behrend, Powers and one brother, Cleve J. Moore, Escanaba.

Friends may call at the Kell-Tondin Chapel in Spalding after 2 p. m. today. Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. from the funeral home chapel and at 2 p. m. at Zion Episcopal Church in Wilson. Rt. Rev. Herman R. Page will officiate. Burial will be in Gardens of Rest Cemetery in Escanaba.

THE CARS INVOLVED in the fatal accident are shown above (upper); the Berg vehicle, and lower; Peterson's car) shortly after the mishap. The hood from Peterson's car lies at the front wheels of Berg's auto. Officers said the two cars were traveling in opposite directions when the Peterson car suddenly made a left-hand turn in front of the Berg car. Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Berg, both passengers in cars driven by their husbands, died as the result of the crash. Investigation into the case is continuing. (Preston's Studio Photos)

Sub-Zero Cold Will Continue Into Wednesday

The mercury plunged to 6 below zero at the Escanaba airport at 8 a. m. today, lowest reading of the current sub-zero cold wave which is expected to continue through Tuesday.

North Central Airlines reported that Escanaba's -6 was not cold by comparison, however, and indicated that more and deeper cold is in prospect tonight.

The temperature was not expected to go much above the teens in Escanaba today. It was still -1 at 10:30 a. m. at the airport.

Escanaba's -6 this morning compared to -12 at Green Bay, -14 at Clintonville, -11 at Ironwood, -20 at Rhinelander, and -10 at Menominee, North Central reported.

Colder Tonight
The Associated Press reports

the zone forecast for the Upper Peninsula is for partly cloudy and very cold, with local snow flurries near Lake Superior today. The high will be from zero to about 10 above.

Tonight will be mostly fair and very cold, with the low zero to 10 below and locally 15 below in interior sections.

Tuesday will have increasing cloudiness and not quite so cold. Wednesday outlook: mostly cloudy and a little warmer.

There was no new snowfall in the Escanaba area, but at Muskegon in Lower Michigan additional snow buried the community in an all-time record for the month of 78.8 inches. Muskegon's previous record was 72.6 inches set in January, 1918. There was 25 inches on the ground.

Snow In Texas

The mass of Arctic air spread across the North Central region today, dropping temperatures to sub-zero levels, with freezing weather in many sections in the East and South.

Snow and sleet pelted deep into Texas. Six inches of snow was reported at Sweetwater while snow mixed with rain spread southward as far as Waco and eastward into the Red River valley. Highways and streets were ice-coated in the Panhandle region.

Light snow also fell from the Dakotas southward into western Oklahoma and hazardous driving warnings were issued for southern Oklahoma and northwestern Texas.

Sub-Zero Region

Clear weather prevailed in the frigid Midwest. Sub-zero marks were reported in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, the Dakotas and Illinois. Low marks ranged from 20 below in International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border, to 11 below in suburban areas northwest of Chicago.

Below-zero cold also was reported in sections of northern New England.

Areas outside the freezing belt were the far Southwest, the Pacific Coast states and in most of Deep South.

Castro To Mark 5 Years Of Rule

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Fidel Castro's regime is 5 years old New Year's Day.

His Communist dictatorship in Cuba seems messier than ever.

Judging from the regime's own accounts, it combines the worst features of a 1948-style Communist satellite with a superabundance of confusion. It has food shortages, rationing, high prices, low wages, economic chaos—and something looking like the beginning of a forced labor movement.

Castro remains a menace in the eyes of most of the Americas. He is a source of satisfaction for the Red Chinese, a necessary nuisance for the Russians and a heavy burden for Cuba.

A military parade, a mass demonstration and a long Castro speech will celebrate events of New Year's Eve of 1958, when dictator Fulgencio Batista fled the island, leaving it to Castro's 26th of July guerrillas.

So chaotic is the economy that a recently promulgated law of compulsory military service seemed an economic rather than a military measure.

Floods in early summer and Hurricane Flora later on left the economy in an even more bewildering tangle than communism had produced by itself. There are shortages of everything.

Prices are high, wages low, and at that, government taxes eat up 20 per cent of even the lowest wages. There are constant campaigns against stealing, embezzlement and similar crimes, but even death sentences fail to stem them.

Castro leans toward the Red Chinese idea of violent revolution regardless of possible consequences, as opposed to the Moscow idea of avoiding risk of international conflict.

Meeting Needs Of People Top Goal Of Romney

LANSING (AP)—Emphasis in Michigan government in 1964 will be on "meeting the needs of the people, continuing a program of fiscal integrity, and further implementation of the new constitution."

So says Gov. George Romney in a "What's Ahead For '64" report, summarizing his first year in office.

"The coming year will challenge all of us as citizens, as political party members or as public officials to carry forward on this thrust toward the future," said Romney.

He indicated special stress in 1964 will be placed on expanding educational institutions for an increase in college students and new facilities for mental health.

But the governor added "nothing has a firmer commitment from me than fiscal integrity," and said the proposed 1964-65 state budget will be "prudent but progressive."

"We will not spend more than we have," he said.

Aides to the governor say his proposed budget for the 1964-65 fiscal year will be a record figure — somewhere above this year's $550 million.

Romney repeated that no broad program of state fiscal reform will be sought in 1964.

But areas other than education and mental health in which action will be attempted were listed as welfare, public health, youth problems and traffic safety.

Regarding the new constitution—on which implementation was begun in a 1963 special legislative session — the governor termed 1964 "A Crucial Year."

He said the transition period immediately after Jan. 1 is vital to finishing up the work of effecting the new document, the adoption of which "was without a doubt the most important single accomplishment of 1963."

"Priceless Experience"

In personal notes, the 56-year-old governor termed his first year "a priceless experience."

There were some pitfalls and drawbacks that he hadn't expected, he said, adding: "During my life, I have worked hard and long at various times, but as governor, I have worked harder and longer without a break than ever before."

"I enjoy it. I have found many satisfactions as well as many drawbacks. It is a rewarding, stimulating and challenging experience. The experience has provided me with a greater appreciation of public officials of both parties and the jobs they do, the responsibilities they carry.

"By the same token, it has sharpened my insight into the potential for good that accompanies public office, and has forced the regrettable recognition that in too many cases the potential is not realized as fully as it should be."

Romney also said his experience has re-emphasized the need for "less narrow, blind partisanship that ignores merit in favor of personal party gain."

Blanket Rope Breaks

A woman who plunged to death when an improvised rope of sheets and blankets broke was identified as Mrs. Marian F. Curry, 43, of Santiago, Chile, and formerly of Greensboro, N.C. A medical examiner said she died of multiple fractures.

Chief Fire Marshal E. C. McDermott said asphyxiation caused most of the deaths. He said evidence indicated the blaze began in or near the Emerald Room, a few steps up from the main lobby. The cause was undetermined.

Flames were confined to below the third floor. Most of the dead were on upper floors where deadly smoke accumulated after rising through the building.

Many of the 479 transient and 20 permanent guests were in night clothing or only partly dressed when the fire was first reported at 7:45 a.m.

Called Firemen

Hotel doorman Alton Joseph Crowden said he was in the lobby when "suddenly smoke poured out from everywhere."

He called the fire department. Trapped guests leaned from windows to escape the smoke and pleaded for rescue. Some fell back or across window sills, unconscious.

Police belloyed instructions from the street via megaphone for the trapped to remain calm and stay behind closed doors to await rescue.

Those first led or carried to safety gathered in shock across the street and looked on helplessly at those still facing death.

Most guests had been evacuated by the time the fire was under control at 9:30 a.m.

Arrives Today:

Tanker Is Last Boat Of Season

The tanker Amaco Wisconsin, whose bow is reinforced for rough weather trips, will come to Escanaba today to unload about two million gallons of fuel oil — the last boat of the season scheduled here.

Capt. John Johansen will bring the Amaco in through several inches of ice that rings the shores of Little Bay de Noc, and after cutting through large areas of "pancake" ice that dot northern Lake Michigan and Green Bay.

Negro Leader Is Man Of The Year

NEW YORK (AP)—The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., a leader in the Negro drive for civil rights, has been named Man of the Year by Time magazine. He's the first Negro to win the award, begun 37 years ago.

The weekly news magazine said King "has made himself the unchallenged voice of the Negro people—and the disquieting conscience of the whites."

Force Academy—were staying at other hotels, but many sports figures were at the Roosevelt.

Frank Howard, coach of the Clemson football team, said he and his wife were having breakfast in the hotel coffee shop when they smelled smoke and fled.

With them was Harry Mehre, Atlanta sports columnist and former football coach at the University of Georgia and the University of Mississippi, who also escaped injury.

"We prayed" — "We stayed calm up there and prayed," said Norman Sloan, University of Florida basketball coach. He was staying on the top floor with Mrs. Sloan and their children, Mike, 10, and Leslie, 8.

Art Fielden, Miami public relations man with the Miss America entourage, and his two sons, Bill, 19, and Mark, 16, were on the 10th floor of the hotel just across the hall from the suite occupied by Miss Axum.

Fielden said in an interview that he and his sons went to her room when they learned the hotel was afire. They tried the door but found it locked. Bill then knocked the door down.

Bill entered the room and found Miss Axum leaning from a window and her chaperone, Miss Previti, 39, of Linwood, N.J., lying semi-conscious on the floor.

"I carried Miss Previti to our room and gave her artificial respiration and she came around," Bill said. Donna followed them to the Fielden suite, where ventilation was better, and from there they were later escorted to safety by firemen.

Robert Haack, Standard Oil Co. terminal manager here, said the Amaco is scheduled to arrive about 3:30 this afternoon, coming from the American Oil Co. refinery at Whiting, Ind.

"It will take her about 11 hours to unload the approximately two million gallons of fuel oil," said Haack. "The captain will probably wait for daylight before clearing from Escanaba, because of ice conditions."

Because of low water levels on the Great Lakes, the Amaco will be about 300,000 gallons under her cargo capacity.

The Amaco Wisconsin will not lay up for the winter but will be on the run into Milwaukee and Muskegon, both ice-free ports, for the rest of the winter.

The arrival of the Amaco Wisconsin today set a new late record for Standard tankers at Escanaba. The previous record was set by the Amaco Michigan on Dec. 29, 1961.

Standard Oil Co. marine terminal was established at Escanaba in 1957 and the volume of its business has increased annually, said Haack.

Last week (Dec. 26) the last tanker of the season for Holly Corp. cleared from that firm's terminal at Wells, said Monroe F. Bouchet, general superintendent.

Ice has formed rapidly in Upper Bay de Noc and there is now up to six inches along the shores — but it is unsafe and ice fishermen were warned not to try to venture out at this time. Ice continues thin in the deep-water areas and officials have warned against taking cars on the ice.

The Chicago & North Western Railway ended shipping at Escanaba early last week, moving a total of more than 5,000,000 tons for a good season.

Sportsman's Club Elects Officers

NEWBERRY — Members of the Tahquamenon Sportsmen's Club elected officers and directors for 1964 at a meeting held in their club rooms on E. Victory Way on Friday.

Those elected were: President, William McLaughlin; vice-president, Royal Lackey; secretary, Ernest Hiltunen; treasurer, Lee Burgess; board of directors for three year terms, Curtis Pedit, Howard Brown, Henry Maki; two year terms, Norman Harriger, Harvey Parker, Leonard Hendrickson and one year, Ira Clark, Sr., and Walter Duquette.

A discussion on setting up a bow and arrow project took place, and Howard Brown presented a showing of a film on New Zealand.

Royal Lackey was in charge of the lunch that followed. Newly elected officers will be installed at a meeting to be held January 18.

Peninsula Has Year Of Growth In Big Industry

Growth of the Upper Peninsula economy was most spectacular in mineral industry in 1963, but there were gains in other fields, too, most notably in wood industry.

Good news in mineral industry included completion of enlargement and construction of pelletizing facilities at its Groveland Mine at Randville by Hanna Mining Co., and the opening of the huge new Empire Mine at Palmer by Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., McLouth Steel Corp., Inland Steel Co. and International Harvester Corp.

And as the year closed there came news of a major breakthrough in Upper Peninsula iron mining modernization with decision of Cliffs and McLouth to pelletize half of the expanded production of the big Mather Mine at Negaunee.

The great significance of this $15 million investment is that it is the first such agglomeration of underground ore in the Upper Peninsula. Herebefore all the beneficiation and pelletizing plants have processed ore from surface mines and at Mather a start will be made on the pelletizing of ore from a shaft mine. This could have revolutionary effects on U.P. underground iron mining, which has been declining rapidly under competition from high grade foreign natural ore imports and from even higher grade domestic pellets.

Pellet Tonnage Rises

The new era in U.P. iron mining was noted in the Escanaba port statistics for 1963, which showed 800,000 tons of pellets moved, the first year of large movement of the marble sized product from U.P. mines. Next year the port expects to move 1,250,000 tons of the pellets.

The port of Marquette moved ahead of Escanaba in 1963 despite declining production of natural ores, because of the big buildup of pellet production at the Marquette Range. Total shipments were: Marquette 5,691,211 tons; Escanaba 5,057,085 tons.

The count of open pit mines—beneficiation and pelletizing plants is now: Marquette Range 3; Menominee Range 1; Gogebic Range 0.

White Pine Copper Co. continued development of the Peninsula's largest copper mine in Ontonagon County and Calumet & Hecla, Inc., reported encouraging development of the new Kingston Lode near Calumet to give new prospects to one of the Peninsula's oldest industries.

Biggest Loss

Ontonagon was disappointed by failure of a congressional conference committee to approve planning funds for development of Ontonagon harbor to enlarge employment at White Pine and at Hoerner Box Co.'s mill there.

In wood industry Celotex Corp. ventured outside board manufacture to develop its Petticoat Lake as a resort site in Baraga County and the Ford Fund was reported negotiating for sale of a large timber tract there to a new industry.

Disappointment of the year was decision of U.S. Plywood Corp. not to locate a plywood plant in L'Anse and share facilities with Celotex.

Best news of the year was announcement by Field Enterprises, Inc., of Chicago that its wholly owned subsidiary, Manistique Pulp & Plywood Co. would start immediately on a $2.5 million plant expansion and modernization project.

The project will improve products and quality controls and enlarge the local wood market, although some of its feed still will be waste paper put through its de-inking process.

New Pulp Mill

Kimberly Clark Corp. announced that it would build a new pulp mill with 100-ton-a-day capacity at its big Niagara, Wis., paper mill to replace the present pulping facility there. A pilot study on the new process to be used at the Niagara mill has been underway at the firm's Munising mill, whose pulping unit is being retired because of obsolescence.

Michigan Tech asked a state grant for study of market for the surplus wood in the eastern Upper Peninsula. A Michigan Conservation Department study of surplus woods in the U.P. showed an annual volume of 219,000 cords on 7 large private ownerships, representing about a third of U.P. commercial woodlands. Much of this wood is in Chippewa and Mackinac counties, where distance from Wisconsin markets (which takes more than 60 per cent of all U.P. pulping woods) makes it difficult to sell.

Cedar is one of the Peninsula's chronic surplus woods (it isn't pulped) and American Timber Homes, Inc., of Escanaba used it in increasing volume in 1963. The firm more than doubled its sale of vacation homes and announced that prospects are even brighter for 1964.

Manufacturing Gain

In small industry several firms moved ahead. Gafner Automotive & Machine, Inc., of Escanaba, announced that it had substantially doubled its employment in the year and was concentrating on production of wood loading machinery, both mobile and stationary.

At Menominee the L. J. Enstrom Corp. moved into a new plant for manufacture of a small helicopter, which has been approved for production by federal aviation authorities.

In Iron River, North Board started production at its particle board plant.

In recreational business the year was one of great promise, with two major projects started. Superiorland at Marquette and Big Bay, with the rehabilitation of the Lake Superior & Ishpeming's branch line there as a scenic railway, and of the Copper Harbor Corp. resort project in Keweenaw. John Zerbel heads the Superiorland project, conceived as a Northern Disneyland type attraction for Big Bay, and Bruce Reid of Milwaukee, who was active in the development of the Aspen, Colo., resort area heads the Copper Harbor project.

The year was specially notable for the first major effort peninsula-wide to stimulate the area's economy by planning. The Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems and Operation Action-U.P. were both active in planning, getting into the project stage with development of fisheries, ore beneficiation, tourism, and wood industry.

Burroughs Moves

The midwinter doldrums in political news has had the pundits reaching into outer space for subject matter and nothing that they have fished from starland is more strange than the suggestion that Soapy Williams might be brought back to save Michigan.

Marc Anthony said of Caesar "The evil that men do lives after them; the good is oft interred with their bones; so let it be with Caesar." So let it be with Soapy to remind us of Michigan's lost years. Governor Williams is symbol of a Michigan era which thought it had discovered a political Rosetta stone; labor had the votes and industrial management didn't, so a party could perpetuate itself forever—or at least up to the time of state bankruptcy—by giving labor what it asked and denying industry what it needed.

Before Williams left Lansing for the greener fields of Washington (where he's undersecretary of state for African affairs) it was apparent to Michigan and to the world that the Wolverine State had lost its industrial dynamism.

The state that was a symbol of American industrial enterprise and progress had devoted itself so assiduously to the welfare of the individual to the exclusion of the welfare of the economy on which he lived that it had betrayed the workers. Industrial growth and jobs went elsewhere. Instead of pioneering change and diversification in the space age, Michigan continued to rise and fall with the fortunes of the automobile trade.

Right now it's riding a boom of such proportions that it helped knock Governor Romney's efforts at state tax reform in the head, but there'll be the inevitable change and it will find Michigan less well equipped to cope with trouble because it wouldn't fix the state's leaky roof when the sun was shining.

What happened in Michigan happened in other industrial states, too, but not in the same chilling proportions, because Michigan is so highly industrialized and specialized. America embarked upon a program of international trade without much thought of adjusting its domestic economy to the rigors of world competition. Now the chickens born of this dislocation have begun to come home to roost. Burroughs Corp., one of Detroit's famed industries, announces that it will transfer operations at its Detroit plant to its Plymouth, Mich. plant and end adding machine production there. For several years the Detroit plant has been manufacturing only for the United States and Canada.

Newer Burroughs plants in Scotland, France and Brazil have supplied its dealers in 125 countries overseas. In the future these overseas plants will supply the United States market as well. Significantly, these modern overseas plants have the necessary capacity without building any additional facilities. So the old mother factory in Detroit will close and the children will take over in foreign countries. Affected by the change are 1,500 Detroit jobs immediately.

Burroughs announced: "High costs of manufacturing adding machines in the Detroit area make it impossible for Burroughs to market competitively and profitably in the United States. However, increasing production of these machines abroad will enable the corporation to compete in the United States with products of foreign manufacturers and with foreign-built products of other U.S. firms."

The meaning of this statement is economically horrendous. It says that now, because Burroughs is manufacturing overseas, it has a chance for survival in competition for the home United States market for its products.

If this were an isolated incident in the national economy it could be ignored as local and insignificant, but it is an increasing commonplace.

The Doctor Says: Staining Shows Tooth Trouble

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

We are known in some parts of the world as a nation of tooth-brushers. This is a reputation to be proud of. But in spite of early dental education, many children still get cavities and sore gums.

The reason is not hard to find. The teeth are continuously bathed in the mucous secretions of the mouth without which we could not chew and swallow our food. These secretions also form an ideal environment for the growth of germs which are nourished by the food particles that stick to the teeth and by the outer cells of the mucous membrane of the gums as they are cast off like the outer layers of our skin.

These colonies of germs on our teeth are transparent and are not removed by casual brushing. The waste products they produce dissolve the dental enamel and cause cavities. They also irritate the gums.

Researchers at the University of Texas recognize that the prevention of these diseases, especially in children, depends on training the children not simply to brush their teeth but to brush them effectively. They have developed a staining method that will graphically show where the offending germ colonies are. Now available as Test Tablets or X-pose dental disclosing wafers, these pleasantly flavored lozenges are to be chewed thoroughly then swished around in the mouth and swallowed.

They do not color the clean enamel, only the germ colonies, usually near the gums or where two teeth touch each other. These are stained a brilliant red.

At this point, a look in the mirror makes a profound impression on a child and is much more effective than any amount of lecturing or scolding. The child is then told to brush his teeth, brushing from the gums onto the enamel. He should brush at least 10 times in each location including the outer, inner and grinding surfaces of all his teeth.

He then uses another lozenge and looks in the mirror again. If he has performed his ritual well, all the stains will be gone. If some stain remains between the teeth, the gentle use of an unwaxed dental floss will remove it. It is well to complement a child on his success when the second lozenge shows no staining.

If after a while you think your child is forgetting to brush his teeth properly, have him chew another lozenge. This will eliminate arguments and guessing. One look in the mirror will provide the answer.

The stain is not only harmless, but is also easily removed from wash basins, lips or fabrics. If there are any areas on your child's teeth that he cannot clear up with proper brushing these should be called to the attention of your dentist because they may represent the beginning of a cavity or gum disease and a dental treatment will prevent further damage.

Edson In Washington Watchdogs Save $247.5 Million

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The honest but discouraging word is that no one has any accurate idea when civil rights reform legislation will emerge from Congress in 1964 or what will be in it if it is passed. There is a long, hard fight ahead.

There was considerable jubilation among liberals in Washington when Judge Howard Smith of Virginia, chairman of the House Rules Committee, finally said he would open hearings Jan. 9 on the bill approved by the House Judiciary Committee.

Smith is personally opposed to this bill. He has requests from a score of other congressmen who want to testify against it and he expects more. There will be some witnesses for the bill, too. Hearings may run through January.

House majority leader Carl Albert, D-Okla., is more optimistic. He thinks the hearings might run two weeks and that the House will pass a bill by the end of January.

Either way, and assuming that the bill eventually passes the House, it will then have to clear the Senate. And no one can write a timetable at that point.

Republican House whip Leslie Arends of Illinois speaks for many in Congress when he says that President Johnson will have to work out some kind of compromise with the southerners to get bill through the Senate.

The imponderable question is, What compromise?

If it is a compromise that satisfies the southern senators, it won't satisfy the Negroes or the leaders of nearly a hundred church, labor and civic organizations working actively for a new deal on civil rights.

Senate segregationists include the most skilled parliamentarians in Congress. They can be counted on to use again every delaying tactic in the book of rules to dam up or water down the provisions of whatever bill the House passes.

Civil Rights leaders took a terrible beating in the Congress in recent weeks. They had deluged congressmen with letters and telegrams, phone calls and personal visits to get 218 signatures on a discharge petition. This was to by-pass Rules Committee consideration of the bill and bring it directly to the House floor for debate and a vote.

They failed by approximately 60 signatures. They wanted Congress to stay in session during the Christmas holidays just to consider civil rights.

But there was no retaliation. The "Christmas boycotts" which some of the more aggressive Negro leaders had advocated were not called. On the whole, civil rights leaders have acted responsibly and respectfully. They may not do so indefinitely.

It may take another March on Washington far less peaceful than the first one, with active lobbying, picketing and demonstrations in other cities, to convince Congress that a weak, compromise civil rights bill will not be enough.

On the other side of the argument, there are some things to be said in defense of both Democrats and Republicans who did not sign the petition for discharge.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., anti-civil rights leader in many previous battles, jumped on House GOP leader Charles McNamara of Indiana for his revision of the original House eyes.

bill to make it more workable legislation. But if Halleck had not done this, the bill would have been loaded with extremist provisions that made certain its defeat.

Also, Judge Smith may not have been too dilatory in bringing the final House Judiciary Committee bill before his Rules Committee.

As Rep. Jerry Ford, R-Mich., points out, it took the Kennedy administration 29 months—January 1961 to June 1963—to send its civil rights proposals to Congress.

It took four months more, to Oct. 29, for the House Judiciary Committee to draft the bill it finally approved. It took another month, to Nov. 21, to get Part I of the Judiciary Committee report on the bill to House members and two weeks more, to Dec. 4, to get Part II distributed.

In the rush of last-minute business to adjourn Congress, there just wasn't time to give this controversial legislation any consideration at all.

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: Kennedy - military: The late President John F. Kennedy "turned regularly to his senior military advisors for information and instruction on the impact of our military posture on world affairs," his military aide writes.

Maj. Gen. Chester V. Clifton, Kennedy's Army aide throughout his term in the White House, tells of Kennedy's high regard for military men in an article in the current edition of the magazine "Army."

Clifton recalls that the late chief executive showed "stunned amazement when he learned from the Joint Chiefs of Staff, a few weeks after taking office, that he launched 10,000 men into Southeast Asia there would be practically no strategic reserve left for any other contingency."

Out of this came Kennedy's decision to increase from 11 to 16 the total of combat-ready divisions and to expand the airlift capability of U.S. forces, Clifton says.

Letters To Hogberg Named The Press Vice President Of U. S. Steel

CONGRESS' YEAR

Early in the session, Congress seemed certain to be by far the biggest spending one in history. Yet things developed better than they might have. Congress responding to increasing taxpayer pressure for economy. Delay in appropriation bills forced federal agencies to operate for months at last year's spending levels, which saved several billion dollars. A beginning was made toward a more sane and sensible attitude toward federal spending, and this impetus seems likely to carry into the next session.

President Johnson struck a responsive chord in his speech before Congress when he pledged to strive for a "dollar's value for every dollar spent." Congress now eagerly awaits his first budget message in hopes the economy note will continue to be sounded.

Three of these four now are presidents of divisions which will become part of United States Steel Jan. 1. Under the reorganization, all will have increased responsibilities extending throughout the corporation for their particular activities.

Beukema has been president of Oliver Iron Mining Division since Jan. 1, 1960, and previously was president of Michigan Limestone Division. In his position as vice president, he will have responsibility for all operations formerly under the jurisdiction of those divisions, and in the western operations of the Columbia Iron Mining Co., and the Atlantic City Ore Mine of the Columbia-Geneva Steel Division.

Beukema will function from Duluth temporarily but will establish headquarters in Pittsburgh next year. Hogberg, a native of Escanaba, is president of Michigan Limestone Division, with headquarters in Detroit. In his new position, he will head quarter in Pittsburgh, and his area of responsibility will include the exploration for and distribution of all raw material for the domestic facilities of U.S. Steel. The handling of mineral leases and timber properties also will be under his jurisdiction.

Admiral Khoury presently is president of Pittsburgh Steamship Division. As vice president-lake shipping, his responsibility will include not only the fleet formerly operated by Pittsburgh Steamship, but also the Bradley fleet, formerly operated by the Bradley Transportation Line of Michigan Limestone Division, and the Steamer "Hood" operated by the American Steel and Wire Division. The Bradley fleet will continue to maintain operating headquarters in Rogers City, Mich., and the Pittsburgh fleet, including the Steamer "Hood," will maintain its operating headquarters in Cleveland for the present. Admiral Khoury's new responsibilities will include all movement of materials on the Great Lakes, as well as intercostal movement of semi-finished steel products.

It was on the question of the future of foreign aid that most startling and encouraging developments took place on Capitol Hill. Even the program's staunchest supporters admitted that it needed revamping and re-evaluation, but they were not prepared for the fight that followed. They failed to gauge accurately the depth of dissatisfaction with the program on the part of many congressmen and most of the public.

Yet in view of the monstrous waste and inefficiency that had come to light in the handling of the program during the last few years, it is surprising that Congress did not go further than it did. It cut an original request of nearly $5 billion to an authorization of about $3.6 billion. Then House Members, seeing billions of dollars already "in the pipeline" cut the fiscal year 1964 appropriation to $2.8 billion, an amount that still seems excessive, though the trend is encouraging.

Even if the Senate seeks to restore some of these cuts, it seems certain that next year will either see a complete revamping of the program, or Congress will find it very hard to justify continuing it. There is no question in my mind that our foreign aid program must be immediately transformed into an effective and economical part of our foreign policy and cease to be simply a give-away program which drains our resources, weakens the dollar, and brings little if any positive returns to us. Unless this transformation is made, I shall continue to vote against the program. Yet I am encouraged at the trend in this direction.

Victor A. Knox, Member of Congress

CHEAPER IMPORTS

If we could market our products and say we have to have so much more to pay for our benefits, we could also buy our American manufactured products.

So They Say

If the day comes when we find it impossible to govern because of pressure from any quarter, we will resign.—Manuel Tavares Espallat, head of civilian junta ruling the Dominican Republic.

The pendulum definitely has swung away from law enforcement, and every day it moves farther in the direction of the law violator.—Claude R. Sowle, associate dean of Northwestern University Law School, on the 979th unsolved gangland slaying in Chicago since 1919.

PITTSBURGH — E. H. Gott, executive vice president-production of United States Steel, today announced the key executives who will be responsible for domestic raw materials and lake shipping activities under the corporation's reorganization program.

Gott said these activities will be headed by J. C. Gray, administrative vice president-raw materials.

Reporting to Gray will be four vice presidents:

C. F. Beukema, vice president, ore and limestone operations.

Carl G. Hogberg, vice president, raw materials services.

J. F. Core, vice president, coal operations.

C. R. Khoury, vice president, lake shipping.

Three of these four now are presidents of divisions which will become part of United States Steel Jan. 1. Under the reorganization, all will have increased responsibilities extending throughout the corporation for their particular activities.

Beukema has been president of Oliver Iron Mining Division since Jan. 1, 1960, and previously was president of Michigan Limestone Division. In his position as vice president, he will have responsibility for all operations formerly under the jurisdiction of those divisions, and in the western operations of the Columbia Iron Mining Co., and the Atlantic City Ore Mine of the Columbia-Geneva Steel Division.

Beukema will function from Duluth temporarily but will establish headquarters in Pittsburgh next year. Hogberg, a native of Escanaba, is president of Michigan Limestone Division, with headquarters in Detroit. In his new position, he will head quarter in Pittsburgh, and his area of responsibility will include the exploration for and distribution of all raw material for the domestic facilities of U.S. Steel. The handling of mineral leases and timber properties also will be under his jurisdiction.

Admiral Khoury presently is president of Pittsburgh Steamship Division. As vice president-lake shipping, his responsibility will include not only the fleet formerly operated by Pittsburgh Steamship, but also the Bradley fleet, formerly operated by the Bradley Transportation Line of Michigan Limestone Division, and the Steamer "Hood" operated by the American Steel and Wire Division. The Bradley fleet will continue to maintain operating headquarters in Rogers City, Mich., and the Pittsburgh fleet, including the Steamer "Hood," will maintain its operating headquarters in Cleveland for the present. Admiral Khoury's new responsibilities will include all movement of materials on the Great Lakes, as well as intercostal movement of semi-finished steel products.

It was on the question of the future of foreign aid that most startling and encouraging developments took place on Capitol Hill. Even the program's staunchest supporters admitted that it needed revamping and re-evaluation, but they were not prepared for the fight that followed. They failed to gauge accurately the depth of dissatisfaction with the program on the part of many congressmen and most of the public.

Yet in view of the monstrous waste and inefficiency that had come to light in the handling of the program during the last few years, it is surprising that Congress did not go further than it did. It cut an original request of nearly $5 billion to an authorization of about $3.6 billion. Then House Members, seeing billions of dollars already "in the pipeline" cut the fiscal year 1964 appropriation to $2.8 billion, an amount that still seems excessive, though the trend is encouraging.

Even if the Senate seeks to restore some of these cuts, it seems certain that next year will either see a complete revamping of the program, or Congress will find it very hard to justify continuing it. There is no question in my mind that our foreign aid program must be immediately transformed into an effective and economical part of our foreign policy and cease to be simply a give-away program which drains our resources, weakens the dollar, and brings little if any positive returns to us. Unless this transformation is made, I shall continue to vote against the program. Yet I am encouraged at the trend in this direction.

Victor A. Knox, Member of Congress

CHEAPER IMPORTS

If the American timber producer wasn't getting the same prices for raw products as he was 15 years ago and everything gone up one third or more.

If all those paid holidays and sick leaves, paid insurance and vacations with pay were not added to the price of manufactured products, maybe we could buy them.

If you were farmers and had to pay your own insurance, pay your own vacation, hire someone to take your place while you're gone; hire someone to take your place if you get so sick you cannot walk around do your work.

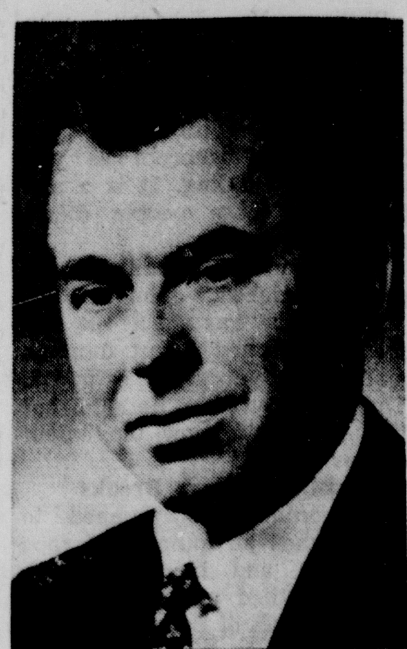

If we could market our products and say we have to have so much more to pay for our benefits, we could also buy our American manufactured products.

TELEPHONE OPERATORS HELP BOY STRANDED 3000 MILES FROM HOME

Bad weather had forced a transatlantic plane to land at Boston instead of New York.

Aboard the plane, Peter Hansen, a 14-year-old Danish student, was on his way to St. Joseph, Michigan, to visit Mr. and Mrs. Chester J. Byrns.

The airline called Mr. Byrns to tell him the plane had been grounded in Boston; its passengers would be sent by bus to midtown New York. The Byrns realized, however, that Peter would be stranded in a foreign land—alone at night in America's largest city.

Mr. Byrns tried to locate Peter's exact whereabouts and get someone to look after him, but without success. Explaining his problem to the Operator in Benton Harbor, Mr. Byrns suddenly found, as he wrote us

Mrs. Joyce DaDan, Service Assistant

Mrs. Giannina Lounsbury, Senior Operator

later, "Michigan Bell had taken over the mission."

Throughout the night, Mrs. DaDan, Michigan Bell Service Assistant, and Mrs. Lounsbury, Senior Operator, made repeated calls to New York City and Boston. They persisted until they knew a Danish-speaking airline employee had met Peter. At 3 a.m. they had the airline employee and Peter on the telephone from New York, assuring the Byrns that all would be well.

In his letter Mr. Byrns said: "... Your company has a great big heart. ... The operators who were working on the problem could not have shown more concern if he were their own son."

While this story is true, it's not unusual. You see, with Michigan Bell, friendly service is a way of life.

Ann Landers

Can't See Joke

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 25-year-old girl who lives at home with my parents.

Last night a very nice fellow I had dated only once before came to the house to pick me up. My father was in the living room so I brought the young man in to introduce him. I think I should tell you, Ann, that my father has a very odd sense of humor and not many people understand him.

The first thing my father said to the fellow was, "What is your zip code number?" The poor guy looked startled and replied, "I don't know."

My dad turned to me and said, "I don't think you ought to go out with a fellow who is too lazy to memorize his zip code number."

I was so humiliated I wanted to die. I hauled the guy out of the house immediately. We had a lousy time because the evening got off to such a poor start. The fellow seemed to go into a shell.

Please tell me what you think about me moving out of the house? A girl I work with has been asking me to share an apartment with her and I could manage it financially with no trouble. —DAUGHTER OF A NUT

Dear Daughter: A 25-year-old girl who is self-supporting does not need an excuse to move out of her parents' home.

Your dad may have an odd sense of humor, but the gink who "went into his shell" doesn't have much of a sense of humor either.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband never smoked. I was a heavy smoker since the age of 17. Three months ago my husband bet me $100 I could not quit smoking. I took his bet, in the presence of two witnesses. He wrote out the check and I cashed it the next day.

Everything was fine until last week, when my mother telephoned from Montreal. Dad had a severe heart attack and she asked me to get on the next plane.

I was so upset that when the man next to me on the plane offered a cigarette I took it. I have been smoking heavily ever since.

I leave for home tomorrow and I'm going to stop smoking the minute I hit Buffalo. Do I owe my husband $100? Technically I did quit. Please advise. —FINE LINE

Dear Fine: Maybe you did quit technically; but you also started smoking again — technically. In my book this means you owe your husband $100.

Return the $100 and ask him to put it back on the line for a second bet. But this time agree on a time limit — like eight months.

Dear Ann Landers: Please wire collect immediately the name of the woman who wrote and said she had E S P and was able to tell in advance what was going to happen.

I will gladly pay her expenses to Chicago and will personally escort her to the Board of Trade. From there we will go to Las Vegas, then on to Monte Carlo. After the traveling I will happily set her up on Park Avenue in New York and buy her a seat on the New York Stock Exchange. —LOOKING AHEAD

Dear Looking: Sorry Bub. If the woman could do what you think she can do why would she need you?

Ann Landers' frank and informative new book, "Teen-Agers and Sex" ($2.95), is available now at your book store.

Tourists Boost Tax Collections

LANSING (AP)—Tourists and outdoorsmen, for the 12th consecutive year, have pushed Roscommon County far out in front of the other 82 Michigan counties in terms of per capita sales tax collections.

The Michigan Department of Revenue, which released its annual report this week, said this does "not necessarily reflect the level of prosperity within the individual counties."

The report said Roscommon County has a small permanent population (7,200), lake resort areas and a huge tourist and transient trade.

"As a result, this county had the highest per capita sales tax collection in 1963 for the 12th consecutive year."

The total sales taxes paid, divided by the permanent residents, comes to $83.10. The state average is $57.98.

The Detroit standard metropolitan area, made up of Wayne, Macomb, and Oakland counties, accounted for about half of the $455.5 million (m) in state sales tax collections for 1963.

Blind Poet Dead

DETROIT (AP)—James Edward McCall, blind poet and editor, is dead at 83. Alabama-born, McCall came to Detroit in 1920 and was a co-founder in 1933 of the former Detroit Tribune, weekly newspaper. His poems were published in magazines and anthologies. He was a graduate of Albion College. McCall died Thursday at a convalescent home.

Ford To Offer Racing Model

DETROIT (AP)—In moves to boost sales, Ford plans to bring out a new racing model this year and Buick has announced it will import economy cars from West Germany.

Ford's development of a GT (grand touring) racing car is the latest in a series of moves by which Ford has sought to make its products more attractive because of their performance in competition.

The new, low, sleek two-seater, to be powered by the Ford Indianapolis racing engine, is intended to challenge foreign car supremacy at leading road racing courses in his country and abroad.

The new car will have speeds up to 200 miles an hour, said Frank E. Zimmerman Jr., Ford division special vehicles manager. It will be 40.5 inches high with an overall length of 159 inches and a wheelbase of 95 inches.

Buick's new line will be the Opel Kadett, made in West Germany.

The Kadetts will be offered under the same two-year or 24,000-mile warranty that prevails on 1964 Buicks, and the price will be under $2,000, Rolt said.

NEW YORK (AP) — "That rowdy transaction of passion, tumult and circus called a presidential campaign" starts again in a few months. Its very closeness gave special meaning to Sunday night's television examination of the campaign that carried John F. Kennedy into the White House—and kept Richard M. Nixon out of it.

"The Making of the President 1960," a documentary on ABC, was written by Theodore H. White and based on his book of the same name. The program was completed a few days before the assassination of President Kennedy and was not changed because of it.

Even a 90-minute show of newsreel film, television tapes, still photographs and explanations is far too short for more than a shallow examination of the forces behind the election of a president.

Johnson's Bid

It was, however, a fascinating program, recalling aspects of the campaign many of us had forgotten. I found, for example, that I had forgotten how strong a contender Lyndon B. Johnson had been for the Democratic nomination.

Interesting material included television tape made immediately before the first debate between Kennedy and Nixon. Both men looked weary, wary and tense as they made small talk and received instructions on debate procedures.

There still are some things that can be done better in book form, and a treatise on a presidential campaign obviously is one of them.

Round Table

NBC's Sunday afternoon "The Law and Lee Oswald" was a round-table discussion which raised the question of whether Oswald, accused assassin of Kennedy, could have received a fair trial. Only one of four lawyers, a Dallas attorney named Leon Douglas, thought so.

The discussion, however, swung to the basic, deeper conflict spotlighted by the Oswald case. On one hand there was the right of any defendant to a fair trial. On the other, there was the right of the public to be the right to the public to be fully informed.

Newton Minow, former federal communications commissioner, suggested both would have been better served had there been one central authority to deal with the broadcasters and press.

Fishermen Saved By Coast Guard

SOUTH HAVEN (AP) — Four commercial fishermen were rescued from threatening ice on Lake Michigan Saturday by the Coast Guard cutter Woodbine.

The four had gone out Friday night in a 48-foot boat to retrieve fishing nets valued at $6,000.

Windrow ice trapped them and threatened the hull of their boat. The cutter battered to its side and rescued the four. The group included A. J. Anthony, Floyd Bard and two brothers, Walter and James Mc Cash.

Report Theft Of 200 Gallons Of Gas From Guard

Thefts of gasoline from National Guard trucks today brought a warning from Capt. George C. Anderson that the thieves will be "prosecuted to the full extent of the law," when they are caught.

Company E of the National Guard has 12 five-ton trucks in a temporary storage yard at the Gladstone Power Plant location. Within the past two months the equipment has been tampered with and more than 200 gallons of gasoline have been stolen.

Capt. Anderson said the thieves may not realize the seriousness of their acts. The trucks and all other National Guard equipment are federal property, turned over to the State of Michigan for training purposes.

"With the loss of over 200 gallons of gas and evidence of other tampering, the local police, the State Police and the FBI have been informed," said Capt. Anderson. "The FBI has been alerted because the property is owned by the federal government."

The equipment of the National Guard must be ready at all times for emergencies, for training or alert purposes and the thefts of fuel seriously affect the ability of the unit to carry out its mission.

Briefly Told

Anders Anderson, 56, of Rte. 1, Gladstone, reported to State Police that he struck and killed a deer at 12:02 p. m., Saturday on County Road 426, about 1.1 miles southeast of Watson. Anderson said he was going northwest on County Road 426 when the animal jumped from the southwest side of the road. The Conservation Department was notified.

State Police of the Gladstone Post issued traffic court summonses to the following over the past weekend: Thomas Adams, 509 1st Ave. S., no operator's license; Alan Jarris, N. Lake, Ill., speeding; Douglas Madden, 621 Michigan Ave., Gladstone, failed to stop for a stop sign and no operator's license; James Laine, Marquette, drove left of centerline; Charles Worsham, Rapid River, no operator's license; and Norman St. John, Manitowoc, Wis., for speeding.

A car owned by Capt. Orville Butts of the Salvation Army was damaged by fire which started in the wiring about 5:25 p. m., Sunday on U. S. 2-41 at the intersection of County Road 426. State Police said the fan belt on the car broke causing the motor to over-heat. This resulted in shorting-out the wiring and setting it afire. A patrol car stopped and assisted in extinguishing the fire. Damage was done to both the motor and the wiring.

Chicago Bears Capture Pro Grid Crown

Swipe Five Aerials From Crippled Tittle

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—The cheer-evoking bandits of the Chicago Bears have made their biggest haul.

They made the main contribution in the Chicago Bears 14-10 victory over the New York Giants Sunday for the National Football League championship.

It was the Bears eighth, but the first for Papa Bear George Halas since 1946, when the Giants again were beaten.

In a daring, daylight caper before 45,801 fans in the deep freeze of Wrigley Field, and many others watching television, the Bears' Jesse James boys robbed big money man Y. A. Tittle blind.

Five times they stole passes from this bald, 38-year-old phenom, who crippled a knee in the second quarter but courageously returned after halftime treatment to play the rest of the game.

Set Up TDs

Two of the interceptions set up Bear touchdowns, in the first and third periods.

Two others were fished in the end zone as Tittle, the NFL's top passer this season, desperately tried to hurl long scoring bombs in the fading minutes of a tense last quarter.

Putting the final clamp on the Giants hopes were the deep interceptions by Bennie McRae as Tittle opened a siege from the Giant 36 and by Rich Petitbon as the master quarterback unleashed a shot from the Bears' 37.

But the best frisking Tittle and the Giants got was by right linebacker Larry Morris, a 230-pounder, and mountainous right end Ed O'Bradovich.

Morris, voted the game's most valuable player, heisted a Tittle flip in the first period and galloped 61 yards before running out of gas on the Giant five.

Wade Sneaks Over

With eight seconds left before the first quarter ended, Bill Wade went over from the two on a quarterback sneak.

Bob Jencks added the extra point and the game was tied 7-7.

The Giants had scored the first time they got the ball. Wade, who played the entire game, was shaken from the ball when Dick Lynch and Sam Huff hit him. Erich Barnes recovered it for the Giants on the Bear 41.

In seven plays, New York scored on a 14-yard pitch from Tittle to Frank Gifford. Don Chandler converted.

Early in the second period, Tittle's arm zeroed in on another goalward thrust. The Giants moved 59 yards as the Bald Eagle brought up the blood pressure of 68-year-old Halas with a 36-yard aerial to Aaron Thomas.

But the Bears' defense, the best in the league matched against the No. 1 offense in this showdown, held.

Giants Lead 10-7

Chandler eventually booted a 13-yard field goal and the Giants clung to a 10-7 edge.

With eight minutes remaining, Tittle slipped going back to pass and was hit by the charging Morris. He limped from the field and Glynn Griffing replaced him.

The Giants quelled Wade's passing attack and held the 10-7 lead at halftime.

Tittle returned at the start of the second half. The Giants seemed to be on the move again, as Hugh McElhenney ran back the kickoff 47 yards.

But Davey Whitsett picked off Tittle's pass near the Bear 25 and from there the Bears drove 59 yards.

Eating up 53 of the yards were two tosses from Wade to Joe Marconi, then Wade's touchdown aerial attempts failed three times from the 21 and Roger LeClerc's field goal try from the 28 was wide.

With 2:12 left in the quarter, Tittle's screen pass was hugged in by the 255-pound O'Bradovich, who rammed 10 yards to the Giant 14. Wade speared Mike Ditka for 12 yards and eventually sneaked inches for the decisive TD. Jencks again added the point.

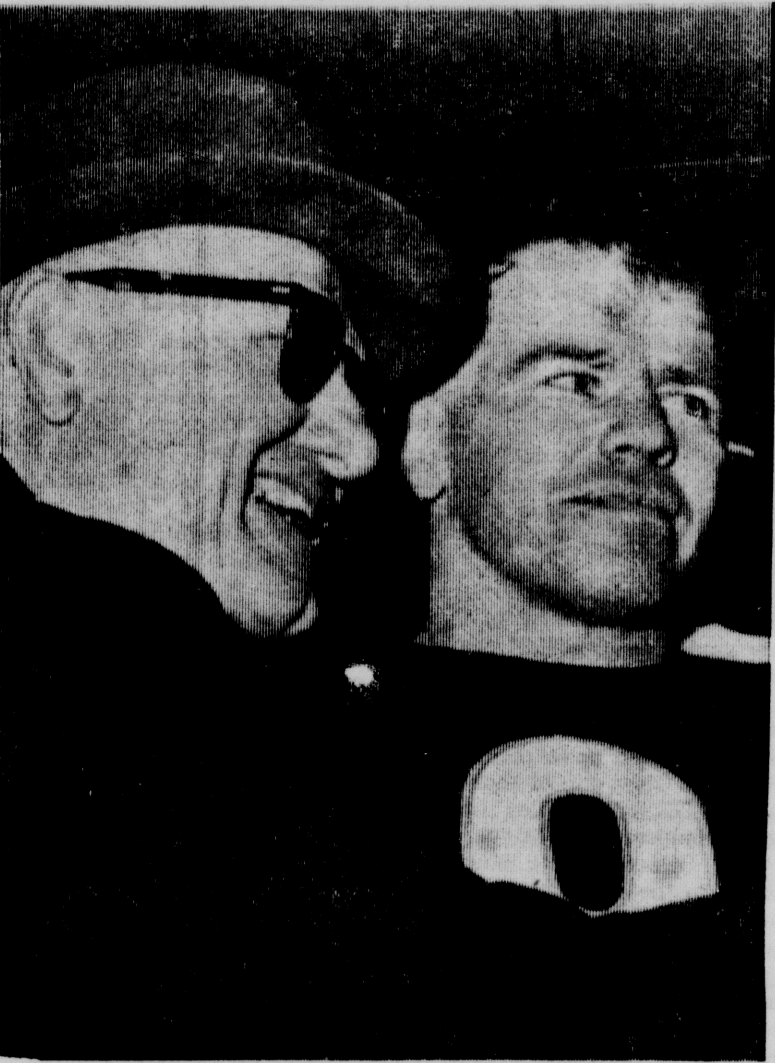

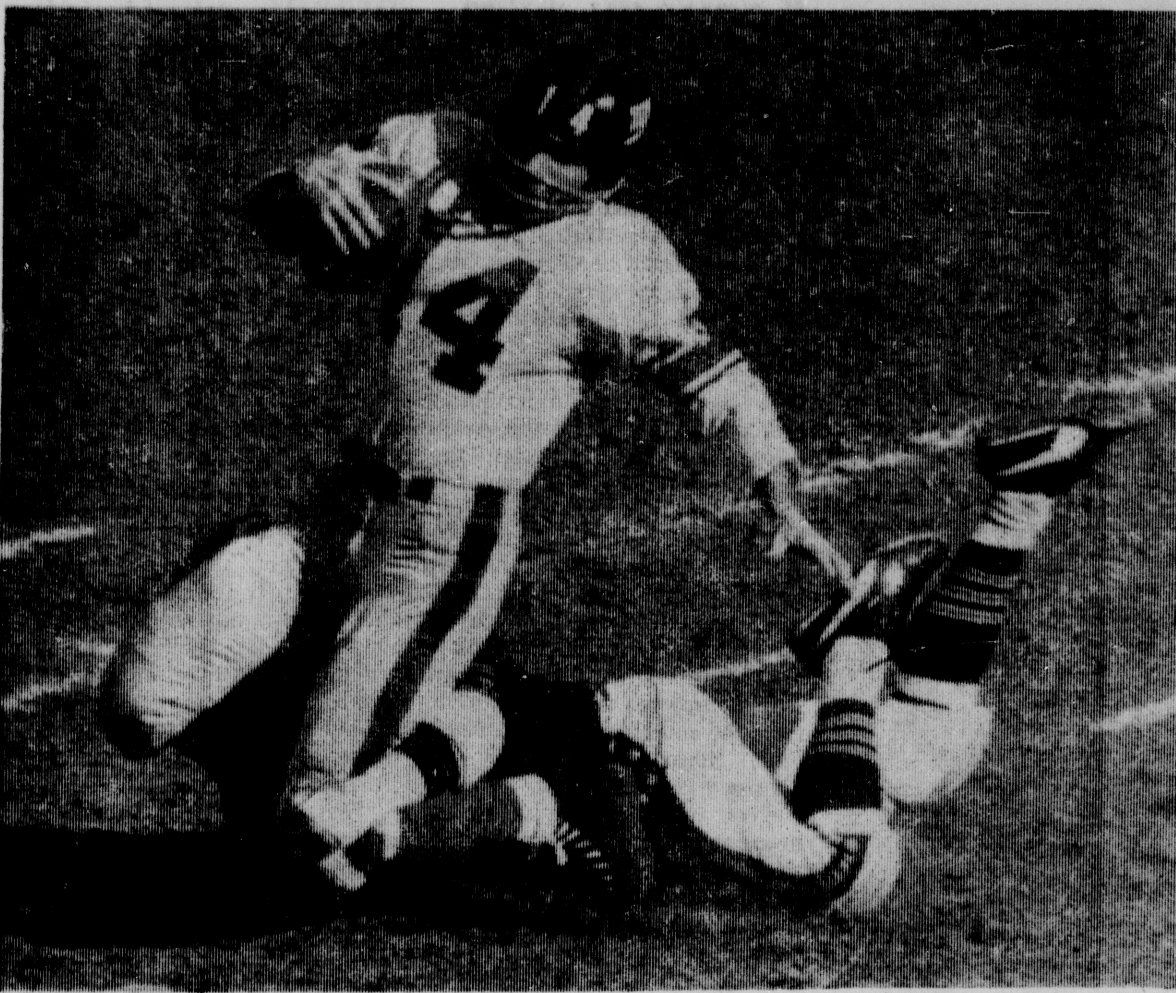

Field Goal Wide

The Bears appeared ready to score again early in the fourth quarter after Petitbon recovered Joe Morrison's fumble on the Bear 49. But the Bears could penetrate only to the 25 and LeClerc's field goal try from the 34 again was wide.

It was then that Tittle twice herded the Giants on frantic drives that ended with interceptions by McRae and Petitbon.

The triumph generally was considered an extremely popular one because of Halas, who pioneered the NFL and went $71 in the red in the 1921 season when his team won its first championship.

Only two years ago there was some cry from critics that owner Halas fire Coach Halas. In fact, he was hanged in effigy outside Wrigley Field as the season ended.

Halas Is Happy Pappy As 68 Year Old Coach

By JOE MOOSHL

CHICAGO (AP) — The old man's twinkling eyes were wet. He raised his arms in gesture of celebration and then hopped around the dressing room congratulating his beloved Chicago Bears.

"It was great boys, thanks a million," shouted 68-year-old George Halas who overcame waves of criticism in recent years and once again led the Bears to another National Football League championship.

The Bears—their splendid defense controlling the game—had defeated the New York Giants 14-10 for the championship.

The defense had picked off five Y.A. Tittle passes for key interceptions, the last coming in the dying minutes of the game by Richie Petitbon, assuring the Bears their first title in 17 years.

Linebacker Larry Morris and end Ed O'Bradovich were among the heroes. Their interceptions set up short plunge touchdowns by quarterback Bill Wade.

"We started the season with the No. 1 defense in the league and ended it with the No. 1 defense," Halas said.

fense," gloated Halas. "I never had any doubts about this team. 'This has to be my biggest personal satisfaction,'" said Halas.

Spry and cagey, Halas sidestepped questions hurled at him about the possibility of his retiring from the league he helped originate more than 40 years ago.

Morris, who rammed 61 yards with an interception staging the Bears' first touchdown, was by far the club's most valuable player. Not only for his interception but for his harassing charges at Tittle and his deadly tackling of Giant runners.

"Sure I was trying to go all the way with that interception," said Morris. "I'm no halfback but I was afraid of being hit."

O'Bradovich, one of the Bear young bloods, was beside himself. "Wasn't it a great catch? I grabbed it with one hand. All I wanted to do was go, go, go."

Reminded me of the passes I used to catch when I was at Illinois."

The Giants refused to alibi for their third title loss in as many years despite an obvious injury to Tittle. Tittle was hit from the side in the second quarter and had to leave the game. He came back and played the entire second half on a wobbly left knee.

Allie Sherman, the youthful Giant coach who has guided his team to three Eastern Division titles, had nothing but praise for his 38-year-old quarterback.

"All this talk about not being able to win the big ones is a lot of bunk," said Sherman. "Tittle has played in more big ones in the last few years than anybody around and he has won more than his share. Most men would not have gone out there in the second half but he did."

"The Bears played a good game, they deserved to win," said Sherman.

Wolverines Eye Big Ten Opener With Wildcats

By The Associated Press

Tested in Christmas holiday play, the Michigan and Michigan State basketball teams set their sights today on Saturday's start of the Big Ten campaign.

Highly promising Michigan, with its 8-1 record one of the nation's best, takes on Northwestern at Ann Arbor Saturday afternoon.

State's Spartans, 6-3 after a rough western road trip, open against Illinois at Champaign Ill., Saturday night.

The crack Wolverines, who crushed Pittsburgh 95-80 to take third place in the Los Angeles Basketball Classic Saturday night, finish their preliminary season at home Tuesday night against the University of Detroit.

U of D lost out in the finals of its own Motor City Tournament in bowing to Penn State 88-83. Penn State thus became the first eastern team to win the Motor City. Western Michigan lost the consolation game to Holy Cross 91-82.

After three defeats in four starts on the road, Michigan State came back in beating Butler at Indianapolis 76-65 Saturday night.

Various tournaments concluded for Michigan teams on the weekend.

Muskegon CO lost to Broome Tech 72-70 in the Tech Christmas Classic finals and Flint JC bowed to Bluffton 87-83 in the Flint Invitational finals. A 55-50 win over Stevens Tech Sunday gave Detroit Tech fifth place in the tourney, while Lawrence Tech clinched third place with an 81-64 win over Pratt.

Vincennes of Indiana won the Benton Harbor Tournament, defeating Joliet of Illinois in the finals 106-73. Steubenville of Ohio captured the Spring Arbor Tournament by overpowering Olivet 89-55.

Syracuse sophomore Dave Bing scored 41 points in a basketball scrimmage against Holy Cross recently. He is 6-feet-3 D. C.

Kentucky Wildcats Seeking Top Rating

By The Associated Press

Coach Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats, gunning for the No. 1 spot in the nation, take that quest, an unbeaten record and the favorites' role into the Sugar Bowl tournament tonight as the vast run of holiday college basketball tourneys continues.

The Wildcats are matched with New Orleans Loyola while No. 8 Duke plays Auburn in the first round of the New Orleans tourney. Davidson, No. 7, plays Penn in the first round of the Charlotte, N.C., Holiday, also opening up.

In addition, finals are scheduled in four other major tourneys: the Far West Classic at Portland, Ore., the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York's Madison Square Garden, the Big Eight at Kansas City the Quaker City in Philadelphia and the Sun Carnival in El Paso, Tex.

Second In Poll

Kentucky was ranked second to Chicago Loyola in last week's poll and is prime candidate to succeed the Ramblers in the weekly balloting now being conducted.

The Wildcats played only once last week, romping over Notre Dame 101-81 Saturday while Chicago Loyola was the victim of the season's biggest upset. Third-ranked Michigan and No. 10 New York University also took their licks in the Los Angeles Classic.

Loyola, the defending national champion, was stunned by unheralded Georgetown 69-58 in the first round of the Quaker City Tournament at Philadelphia. The Ramblers bounced back for an 88-82 decision over Northwestern, but the loss probably will be reflected in the weekly standings.

Wolverines Win

Michigan knocked off NYU 83-74 in the first round of the Los Angeles tourney, fell before eventual champion UCLA 98-80, then whipped Pitt 95-80. NYU rebounded from the Michigan loss for victories over Yale, 96-82, and Southern California, 70-69.

UCLA, No. 4, took the Los Angeles tourney title with an 83-79 triumph over Illinois, pulling away in the last three minutes for its ninth straight victory.

Fifth-ranked Cincinnati, No. 6 Vanderbilt and No. 9 Oregon State got through the week unbeaten. Davidson and Duke did not play.

Cincinnati opened Missouri Valley Conference play with a 54-52 edge over Tulsa after trimming Kansas State 72-70. Vanderbilt beat Memphis State 85-79 and South Carolina 116-78, stretching its winning string to 14 and taking the title in its own invitational.

Gophers In Finals

Oregon State, which plays Brigham Young in the finals of the Far West Classic tonight, scored two tourney victories, taking Louisiana State 87-57 and Colorado State 53-51.

BYU reached the finals on the strength of an 80-70 decision over Oregon.

Other major finals pit Villanova and Minnesota in the New York Festival, Oklahoma State and Kansas State in the Big Eight, LaSalle, and St. Bonaventure in the Quaker City and Denver and Texas Western in the Sun Carnival.

Villanova made it in with an 82-75 edge over previously unbeaten Utah while Minnesota outlasted St. Joseph's, Pa., 69-63. In the Quaker City semis, LaSalle bombed Georgetown, D.C., 80-69 and St. Bonaventure edged Drake 64-62. Oklahoma State beat Kansas 65-56 and Kansas State romped over Missouri 84-67 in the Big Eight semifinals.

Badgers Win Title

In addition to UCLA and Vanderbilt, others gaining major titles Saturday included Wichita, Wisconsin, Arizona, DePaul, Penn State, Syracuse, Tennessee, San Jose State and The Citadel.

Wichita blasted Oklahoma City 80-47 in the All-College at Oklahoma City, unbeaten DePaul whipped Xavier of Ohio 86-80 in the Queen City at Buffalo, N.Y., Wisconsin routed Georgia Tech 104-64 in the Milwaukee Classic, Syracuse outlasted Miami, Fla. 86-85 in overtime in the Hurricane Classic at Miami, Arizona topped Evansville 78-61 in the Evansville, Ind., Classic, Tennessee beat Centenary 70-63 for the Gulf South title, The Citadel edged Furman 42-41 in the Poinsettville Classic, San Jose got by Santa Clara 56-55 in the WCAC at San Francisco, and Penn State won the Motor City in Detroit, beating Detroit 88-83.

—owning a lackluster 6-4 season record—as a soft Rose Bowl touch.

Pete told writers he was keenly aware of the Huskies' giant-killer talent in Rose Bowl competition.

Elliott was referring to the upset triumph scored by Jim Owens' Huskies in the 1960 Rose Bowl game over Wisconsin and in the 1961 game over national champion Minnesota.

Much has been made of the play of All-America center Dick Butkus in the Illini parade to a 7-1-1 record and No. 3 ranking in the final Associated Press poll.

Elliott scoffed at Illinois' seven-point favoritism to score the school's third victory in as many starts since Ray Elliott's Illini launched the current Big Ten-Big Six Rose Bowl feud in 1947.

In that series opener, "unwanted" Illini trumped UCLA 45-14. In the 1952 game, Elliott's Illini belted Stanford 40-7.

Elliott, whose California Bears bowed to Iowa's Hawkeyes 38-12 in the 1959 Rose Bowl game, seems most impressed with quarterback Bill Douglas as chief Washington menace to his Illini.

On defense, Elliott said, the Huskies have "real speed and quickness."

Lakers Boost League Lead

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Lakers have produced their highest score of the season and boosted their lead to 2½ games in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

Jerry West scored 39 points, Elgin Baylor scored 32 and the Lakers scored 140 to 128 over Detroit Sunday night and lengthened their lead over second-place St. Louis.

In the only other game, Cincinnati held on for a 105-99 victory over New York after almost losing a 23-point lead.

In Saturday action, Eastern Division-leading Boston defeated St. Louis 107-100, Philadelphia whipped Los Angeles 114-100 and San Francisco edged Baltimore 106-104.

The Pistons moved to within two points of the Lakers three times in the third quarter, before West, Baylor and Rudy LaRusso started a surge that gave Los Angeles a commanding 109-99 lead at the end of three quarters. Bailey Howell was Detroit's high scorer with 25 points.

Darlene Hard Leads Netters

NEW YORK (AP) — Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., is the choice of the United States Lawn Tennis Association's ranking committee to head its women's singles rankings for the fourth straight year.

Miss Hard's selection must be approved at the USLTA's annual meeting to be held in Corpus Christi, Texas, Feb. 15.

Wimbledon champion Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., was the committee's selection to head the men's rankings.

Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., is second to Miss Hard in the USLTA ratings. Miss Moffitt was the Wimbledon runner-up losing to Margaret Smith of Australia last summer.

Hall Keeps Hex On Montreal In Pro Puck Race

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Black Hawks' tailfeathers were dragging a week ago but, thanks to Glenn Hall's hex on Toronto, the Hawks are winging again toward their first National Hockey League title.

Chicago's goalie star shut out the defending champion Leafs for the fourth time this season Sunday 2-0 as the Hawks hit the 1963-64 midway mark with a five-point lead over second place Montreal.

The Canadiens kept pace with a 6-2 romp over New York in a game marked by two full-scale brawls and Detroit boosted its playoff hopes by edging Boston 2-1 as Gordie Howe registered his 600th NHL career goal.

Kenny Wharram scored both Chicago goals, his 19th and 20th of the year, and Hall made them stand up as the Hawks won their 20th game in 35 starts.

Stan Mikita assisted on each of Wharram's goals and kept a piece of the NHL scoring lead with 48 points.

The co-leader, Montreal's Jean Beliveau, picked up a goal and an assist in the Canadiens-Rangers brawl. Henri Richard and Bobby Rousseau each scored twice and ex-Ranger Dave Balon completed the rout before fists began to fly.

Before the feud ended, referee Vern Buefy meted out 106 minutes in penalties, including majors for fighting to Vic Hadfield, Rod Gilbert, Harry Howell, Larry Cahan and Howie Glover of New York and to the Canadiens' Jerry Harper, Ralph Backstrom, Jacques Laperriere and Claude Provost.

In Saturday's games Toronto blanked the Bruins 2-0 while Detroit and Montreal played to a 1-1 tie.

Lewis Gets TD As East-West Game Is Tied

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

With Texas and Navy ready to battle for college football's unofficial championship, the bustling bowl season reaches its peak this week as fans get the chance to put aside their annual hangovers temporarily in favor of the big four post-season clashes.

The Cotton Bowl has by far the biggest and most interesting attraction for New Year's Day, but it still must share the spotlight with the Rose, Orange and Sugar contests. Four other bowls help conclude the college season this week.

Another quartet of games had their fling last Saturday. North Carolina walloped Air Force 35-0 in the Gator Bowl, the East and the West fought to a 6-6 tie, the Gray took the Blue 21-14 and Western Kentucky had an easy time with Otto Graham's Coast Guard in the Tangerine Bowl, winning 27-0.

Texas Unbeaten

Roger Staubach and his second-ranked Mideast mates invade the lair of the Texas Longhorns, the country's No. 1 team in the regular season, for the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. Unbeaten Texas will have to fend off the East's best to remain first in the minds of the nation's fans.

Hockey Teams To Be Formed

The Escanaba Junior Hockey program got underway Saturday and registration forms can be picked up this week at practice sessions at the water tower rink, it was announced today by Director George Petaja.

Any boys in the Escanaba area interested in playing hockey may take part in the program.

The first week will be devoted to practice sessions to get the boys in condition. League play will begin as soon as there are enough boys to form the teams.

Petaja asked that any former Hawk players who have hockey equipment they are not using turn it in to Ovid Provo for use by the 15-17 age group. This group of players takes part in the Junior program as well as inter-city activity.

This week's schedule:

Midgets, 9 through 11, will practice Wednesday at 6:30, Friday at 6:30 and Saturday at 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Juveniles, 12 through 14, will practice today at 6:30, Wednesday at 7:45, and Saturday at 10:30 a.m. and 2:15 p.m.

Juniors, 15-17, will practice today at 7:45, Friday at 7:45 and Saturday at 1 p.m.

Red Wings Tighten Fourth Place Grip

By BERNIE KENNEDY

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings picked up three points over the weekend to tighten their grip on fourth place in the National Hockey League.

Eddie Joyal scored with less than four minutes remaining in the game Sunday night to give the Red Wings a 2-1 victory Boston. Detroit and Montreal played to a 1-1 tie Saturday night.

The Red Wings are now eight points up on fifth-place New York, 6-2 losers to Montreal Sunday night. Toronto, which blanked Boston 2-0 Saturday night, bowed to Chicago 2-0 in the other game played Sunday. Gordie Howe put the Red Wings ahead in the first period Sunday when he poked in Parker MacDonald's shot from the point. It was Howe's 600th career goal. He has scored 552 in regular season play and 48 more in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Rocket Holds Record

Former Montreal star Maurice Richard holds the NHL record with 626 career goals.

Goalie Terry Sawchuk, playing for the second straight night after missing seven games because of a back injury, was unbeatable until the last minute of the second period when Leo Boivin fired the puck just inside the goal post from a scramble in front of the net.

The Red Wings were playing shorthanded at the time of Boivin's goal. Marcel Pronovost was sitting out the second and last penalty in the fast-skating game.

The Red Wings appeared headed for another deadlock after Boston goalie Ed Johnston blocked Floyd Smith's breakaway effort midway in the final period.

But Joyal picked up the puck and shot it into the net off Johnston's stick with 3:16 remaining for the victory.

Norm Ullman appeared to have scored on a breakaway in the first period, only to see the play whistled down for offsides.

Boston argued for a goal in the final period when Bill Gadsby tipped the puck past Sawchuk.

chuk. But the officials ruled the Bruins had iced the puck and no goal could be allowed.

The Red Wings have lost only two games in their last 10, winning five and tying three.

Manager-coach Sid Abel says he will continue to use either Sawchuk or Roger Crozier in the nets and will not decide who will play until the night of the game. Abel also said that Alex Faulkner, who has been sidelined with a broken hand, would probably be ready Saturday when the Red Wings play in New York.

Montreal scored four goals in a six-minute span in the first period Sunday and went on to record its sixth victory over the Rangers in seven meetings.

Henri Richard and Bobby Rousseau each scored twice for the Habs, while Jean Beliveau and Dave Balon each scored once. Camille Henry got both of New York's tallies.

Fistic Flareups

The game was marked by several fistic flareups as referee Vern Boffey handed out 106 minutes in penalties.

The victory enabled the Canadiens to move ahead of Toronto into second place, five points behind league-leading Chicago.

Chicago's Kenny Wharram became the third player to score 20 goals this year when he tallied twice in the opening period in the Black Hawks' win over Toronto. Teammates Stan Mikita and Bobby Hull are the others who have hit the 20-goal mark. Each has scored 21.

Detroit will be the host for Toronto Tuesday night in the only games scheduled. Montreal is at Boston and New York at Chicago in games Wednesday.

WAYLAND (AP) — There aren't many towns the size of Wayland—population 2,019—that can boast of having two of their former high school athletes in the professional ranks.

Detroit Tigers pitcher Phil Regan, who was the team's winningest pitcher last season, is from Wayland, and so is Ron Stehouwer, a 235-pound guard for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Stehouwer, 26, has blossomed into one of the Steelers' top players after a well-remembered debut in 1960.

"I had played fullback in high school and tackle at Colorado State University," Stehouwer said. "Then when I joined the Steelers, I became an offensive guard, which was quite a switch for me. Coach (Buddy Parker) worked hard with me in mastering new techniques. I was pretty green, frankly."

"It was early in the season and we were playing the Dallas Cowboys. I hadn't been in a game yet and was pretty nervous when Parker called on me to fill in for one of the injured players," he continued.

"The play was to be a pass from Bobby Layne to one of our flankers. The ball was snapped and I took a couple of steps back, getting ready to ward off this monster of a tackle playing opposite me."

"Well, this tackle, who could really move for a 270-pounder, faked me out completely, going around me and right after Layne, who was in the pocket ready to pass. I was so flustered that I turned right around and—believe it or not—tackled the guy!"

"All the while the official was marching off the penalty for the holding penalty. Layne was screaming at me. Finally he started yelling at Parker, saying something along the lines of 'you call this guy a football player!'"

Stehouwer, who has his Masters Degree and soon will have his doctorate, was once the property of the Detroit Lions.

He was talked into coming to Colorado State by former Lion Thurman McGraw, who had quit the NFL to take an assistant coaching job there.

He was drafted in his junior year and reported to Detroit in the fall of 1960. After four weeks he was traded to Pittsburgh in a complicated waiver deal.

Stehouwer, who just missed playing in the NFL championship game when the Steelers lost to New York in the final game of the season, likes to expand on the subject of football spirit.

"I hate to hear from a lot of fans who really don't know better that professional football players can't match the collegians in spirit. These boys have great pride, spirit and incentive. I think generally the pros have more spirit, more dedicated to the game than the collegians. There's always that haunting thought in the back of your mind that you're going to get hurt. But you don't let that get you. You just play the game and let the professionals handle the rest."

Murder Mostly Intimate Affair

CLEVELAND (AP) — Murder is largely a family affair, a New York sociologist said today.

At least, declared Dr. Gerhard Falk of the State University College at Buffalo, murder is a "very intimate matter, which takes place between relatives and friends and rarely between strangers."

Describing a study of various aspects of homicide, he told the American Association for the Advancement of Science that among 121 murders committed in Buffalo from 1948-1955, only 12 per cent of the victims were strangers to the killers.

Liquor Supplier Held In Death

CROSWELL (AP) — Authorities charged a 21-year-old Croswell man Sunday with supplying the liquor believed to have induced a heart attack that killed one of five youths in a drinking episode.

Benny Hinojosa, arrested Sunday night, was held for arraignment today.

The victim, 19-year-old Patrick Rennie of Croswell, died from a heart attack that Sanilac County Sheriff Quincy Hoffman said was induced by excessive drinking. An autopsy Sunday determined Rennie died of a heart attack, and Hoffman said the youth had consumed a fifth of liquor Saturday night.

Three youths brought Rennie and a 19-year-old companion, Frederick Bowers, to a local doctor Saturday night. The doctor pronounced Rennie dead. Of officers said Bowers was incoherent.

The three boys, whom officers did not name but said were 17 years old, first told of finding Rennie and Bowers lying alongside M 90 at the outskirts of Croswell.

Later, the three admitted they were with Rennie while he drank the fifth of liquor, deputies said.

The youths named Hinojosa as the man who furnished them with the alcoholic beverage, deputies said.

Patriarch Asks Christian Rally

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Patriarch Athenagoras I, spiritual leader of world orthodoxy, has urged Pope Paul VI to call a meeting of all Christian faiths to make common march against atheism and tyranny.

The announcement by the Vatican press office today came as the patriarch's see in Istanbul reported that Patriarch Athenagoras and the Pope will hold their meeting in the Holy Land next week on the Mount of Olives. It will be the first meeting in five centuries between the leaders of the two religions.

The Eastern patriarch's proposal for a pan-Christian conference made no mention of a date.

The proposal for such a conference of Catholic, Orthodox, Protestant and Anglican leaders was relayed to the Pope Saturday by Metropolitan Athenagoras of Thiatina, an official emissary of the patriarch.

Roman catholicism and orthodoxy have been in schism for centuries.
